Don 039;t Spy On Me

What's New in the?

Use the Don't Spy On Me tool to detect spies on your computer. Send a fake E-mail into your inbox to lure any spies or unauthorized viewers of your E-mail into opening the fake message, which will reveal information about the spy including their geographic location, the date and time they opened the message, and possibly other information. Discover if anyone else is accessing your computer without your knowledge by placing a fake, customizable icon on your desktop to trick unauthorized users on your computer into clicking the icon, which will also log information about the spy. A Spy-Catch URL may also be created to place in other locations such as private chats, password-protected documents, and hidden files. View the activity log anytime to see when spies have accessed your E-mail, desktop, private online conversations, or protected files. AS NOTED IN THE SPECS BELOW, THE DEVELOPER DOES NOT SUPPORT,ENDORSED, OR IN ANY WAY "BUILT" THIS TOOL. IT IS ONLY SUPPORTED BY SPYLINK. When Spyware encounters Spy-Catcher, it responds with a number of errors and events that are listed below. Although Spy-Catcher is not created by Spyware, it is listed as a supported product in the Spyware HELP forum. Note that even though a Spy-Catcher report is shown, you do not receive this report in the normal Spyware Help Center. To view this report, go to the Troubleshooting menu and select the Help Desk. Note also that if you view an associated event log (specified in the Troubleshooting menu), you will not see a Spy-Catcher report. Instead you will see a number of events generated by Spy-Catcher and a number of additional errors generated by Spyware. The event logs generated by Spy-Catcher may be displayed as follows: Note that you will see a number of events generated by Spy-Catcher, including the following: In the upper-right corner of the Spy-Catcher dialog box, click the Log Events... button to display the Spy-Catcher Event Log. This dialog box will display the most recent Spy-Catcher event log. From this log, you can view the most recent spy catcher activity. Click the View Log... button to open the associated event log. You can view the Spy-Catcher report in the event log to see what the Spyware program is reporting about the spy catcher activity. Use
